Rose's sister , Sue was my friend in 7th grade when I moved from a one room school in the county to the consolidated jr high. As we got to know each better I'd spend the night with Sue. That's how I got to know Rose, Sue's barely older sister. So Rose and I became friends, also. There was a particular time in our lives when we both were experiencing early teen age angst at the same time, that we got each other thru it by planning how we'd save our money and we'd see the world. It was a beautiful dream. I finally got to do some of it when I was 40. I hope Rose did too. See you in heaven, Rose. We'll be in the best place of all then.
